ACCUSED 25 AX MURDERS

Federal Officer Bases Charge on Admissions at Trial in Columbia, Mo.

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., May 8.—Twenty-five murders committed in the last three years in Missouri, Kansas, Colorado, Iowa and Illinois, by means of blows from an ax, are ascribed to Henry Lee Moore, now serving a life term in the Missouri penitentiary, according to a theory announced today by M. W. McClure, special agent of the department of justice, after an exhaustive study of the so-called ax murders.

Henry Lee Moore went to the penitentiary at Jefferson City, after being found guilty of the murder of his mother and grandmother, Mrs. Mary Wilson and Mrs. George Moore, at Columbia, Mo., in December, last. Moore, on trial, made many damaging admissions, and contradicting statements. He said he had made a study of famous murders, including the Dr. Crippen case in England.

Alleged Victims.

The ax murders ascribed to Moore by McClure are:

H. F. Wayne, wife and child; Mrs. A. J. Burnham and two children, Colorado Springs, Colo., September, 1911.

M. E. Dawson, wife and daughter, Monmouth, Ill., October, 1911.

William Showman, wife and three children, Ellsworth, Kan., October, 1911.

Rollin Hudson and wife, Paola, Kan., June, 1911.

J. B. Moore, four children and two girls, Villisca, Iowa, July, 1912.

Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. Moore, Columbia.

Mr. McClure was called to assist in the investigation of the Villisca murders, and since then has devoted much time to the study of ax crimes.

He calls attention that the first of the series of murders did not occur until Moore's release from the state reformatory at Hutchinson, Kan., where he served a term for forgery.

Student of Crimes.

He states further each of the 25 persons murdered, half of them children, were slain in their homes and that traces indicative of the most gross brutality were left.

Moore's admission that for years his mind has been immersed in the study

Moving Pictures Pikes Peak
Region Will Be Exhibited in Springs First

Within a week or 10 days Colorado Springs will be able to see itself as others see it. The five-day moving picture campaign which has been conducted by the advertising committee of the Chamber of Commerce as one of the most elaborate publicity features of the year, closed yesterday when the film was ended with views taken on the Cripple Creek Short Line trip.

The pictures taken yesterday will lead the film. A number of autos labeled with state banners and filled with people were snapped coming into the city on the Denver road, representing a group of summer visitors arriving. A Denver & Rio Grande passenger train was snapped speeding to the city. Views were taken on Cascade avenue showing the well-kept street with its middle parking and handsome residences.

Max Schneider, operator for the Sowers Motion Picture Co., who did the active work in connection with the film, is confident that the pictures will be one of the finest collections of views of this kind he has ever taken. Schneider has clicked off films all over the world, and states that the Springs pictures, with their scenic attractions and automobile features, should be different from any ever taken. Schneider took an active interest in the pictures and assisted the committee in arranging schedules and views.

The film has been sent to Denver and will be edited with appropriate headings. It will be sent here first, and an exhibition at one of the motion picture houses is planned, either for the last of next week or the first of the week following. This will be conducted under Chamber of Commerce auspices and an admission is to be charged.

After being shown here the film will be sent out over states that the Chamber of Commerce will designate. The contract calls for 365 exhibitions of the pictures in cities of more than 4,000 population.

PROGRESSIVES HOLD MEETING ADDRESSES BY PERSONS AND THOMAS

Membership Increasing—Letter From National Organization Read

The El Paso County Progressive club, at its regular monthly meeting last night at the court house, discussed organization and legislative plans of the national and local parties, and listened to interesting addresses by Representatives Warren M. Brown and Thomas E. Thomas. Mr. Brown, chairman of the National Progressive organization, read a letter from Walter L. Brown of Toledo, O., national organization chairman, who told of some of the things that the party hopes to accomplish in the next two years in the formation of Progressive clubs in every community in the country. Mr. Brown also explained the organization work in detail and spoke on phases of legislation.

Representatives Persons and Thomas spoke of the work of the Progressive members of the last general assembly, and read a number of personal reminiscences of the session of special interest to Progressives.

The meeting was well attended, and the membership is increasing rapidly.

In his letter to Mr. Brown, Mr. Brown tells of the interesting and enthusiastic two-day session held by the executive committee of the Progressive national committee in New York, April 16 and 17, and gives out many details not generally known here.

Mr. Brown also reported that this committee meeting has received favorably the plan of levying assessments on each state to carry on the work of the national organization.

More Funds Voted.

Substantial progress was reported in five or six states by the organization bureau, although this work is hampered for lack of adequate revenue.

The organization bureau was voted additional funds to employ two more national organizers for the remainder of the year, and a great impetus to the movement is expected. In this connection, the Progressive service and organization departments will cooperate in the organization of Progressive leagues in the various states.

"The importance of organization work cannot be overestimated," declares Mr. Brown in his letter.

Reports of other departments were received, all showing great activity and the greatest enthusiasm.

Victor Murdock, floor leader of the Progressives in congress, reported to the executive committee that the Progressive organization in Washington will stand together for the movement in every way and will cooperate in the nomination and election of Progressive candidates for congress all over the country.

Significant as showing the trend of Progressivism in the country is the following sentence from Mr. Brown's letter: "The members of the committee were unanimous in reporting from their various sections that Progressives were standing shoulder to shoulder. The talk of amalgamation from one or two conspicuous sources has met with no substantial response. It is inconceivable that men who are divided by principle will make common cause merely to capture offices."

The importance of pushing the organization of all local Progressive clubs and uniting them into state leagues, is emphasized by Mr. Brown.

JAPS OFFER TO FIGHT FOR REBELS

400 Would Furnish Own Arms
in State of Sonora to Aid
Pesqueira

200 KILLED IN EXPLOSION

Train Bearing Federal Soldiers and Dynamite Fired on by Insurgents

DOUGLAS, Ariz., May 8.—Four hundred Japanese residents of Sonora state have offered their services in arms to L. I. Pesqueira, the insurgent governor, according to a code telegram received by the Constitutionalist committee here today. The offer was refused by the governor, explaining that the fight to oust the Huerta soldiers from the border state was a struggle in which Mexicans only should participate.

Fifteen Japanese formed the committee which called on the governor yesterday at Hermosillo, the state capital. They declared that the 400 Japanese already were armed. They composed, they said, all residents of the state, mostly farmers and mechanics. They offered to furnish their own ammunition for a time. The governor thanked the committee for its interest in the welfare of Mexico, he said, but declined the offer on the grounds of the alienage of the proffered troops.

The 1,500 uncivilized Yaqui Indians who recently took the field for the state inspection yesterday attempted to attack Cruz de Piedra. To the surprise of their chief, Pajarito, the federal garrison of the place had deserted in a body. Cruz is located near Guaymas, and this incident led to an investigation which disclosed the fact that all federal forces in neighboring state towns have been withdrawn to the defense of Guaymas.

200 Killed in Train Disaster

NOGALES, Ariz., May 8.—Two hundred lives are reported lost in the train disaster at Don, near the Sonora border, yesterday. State troop leaders declare that the train bearing 250 federal soldiers was not dynamited by stealth. It is said that the insurgents fired into the train, exploding a car of dynamite which the federated were conveying to Guaymas.

Only 50 of the passengers are reported to have escaped death, but that many of them were wounded in the wreck which followed the explosion.

The troops were moving from San Blas, in northern Sonora, to Alamos, below Guaymas, from which point the insurgents feared they would proceed to reinforce the garrison defending the gulf port.

Sonora Asks Recognition.

TUCSON, Ariz., May 8.—The insurgent Mexican state of Sonora, as an independent power, instituted proceedings today to obtain the extradition of Vicente Morales, charged with the murder in 1911 of Fortunato Mazón, son of a wealthy merchant of Cananea. The father of Morales, in a

PLAYGROUND FOR CHILDREN LIKELY SITE DONATED AT MONU- MENT VALLEY PARK

Detailed Report Is Made by Recreation and Amusement
Commission

A thoroughly equipped playground for children, to be in charge of a play instructor or supervisor during the summer months, is the plan proposed by the recreation and amusement commission appointed several months ago by the city council. If the ambition of the commission is achieved, the grounds, which will be located in Monument Valley park, will be laid out early next month and placed under the supervision of a competent play director.

The project already has been taken up with the park commission, which has donated a site for the playground in Monument Valley park between Boulder street and the Mesa road. It is proposed to divide the playground, fitting out the larger area south of the lake as a baseball field, and that on the north with amusement and gymnastic appliances and swings and other diversions for small children.

The recreation and amusement commission has been working on the project for several weeks, and yesterday gave out the following report of its plans:

Report of Commission.

The recreation and amusement commission, appointed under the authority of the city council, have given serious consideration to the question of providing playgrounds for children, especially during the summer months.

As a result of the deliberations of the commission the following plan is suggested:

The park board will provide a playground in the Monument Valley park, between Mesa road and Boulder street.

The lake opposite the entrance from Willamette street makes a convenient divide of the grounds. That part lying south of the lake will be used for baseball, as at present. That part lying north of the lake will be used for general games, and will be provided with sand boxes for the younger children, and gymnastic appliances for the older children.

It is essential to provide adequate supervision for the children. It is planned to engage a competent playground supervisor for the months of June, July and August, and to provide an assistant supervisor, so that there shall always be some one in authority on the playgrounds. The commission is in correspondence with a number of applicants for the position.

In order to fit up the grounds and the house, with its overwhelming Democratic majority, to the senate where the party's slim majority of six already has been reduced, as far as this bill is concerned, to four. Unless senators familiar with the progress of such legislation are mistaken, there is now little prospect of a final vote on the bill before August.

The bill's passage through the senate will be fought at every step by the Republican organization. Leaders of the Democrats on the senate finance committee, which will handle the bill, expressed the belief tonight that it would go through in practically the same form as it passed the house and that their small majority will stand firm to the last.

Democratic leaders acknowledge that the two senators from Louisiana will not accept the sugar schedule and that they might be willing to combine with others to defeat the whole bill.

Result Will Be Close.

Although there have been reports about the senate that the Democrats intend to allow one more senator to vote against sugar and another to vote against wool, leaders of the finance committee today refused to confirm it. Republicans who are interested in hearing the bill and who have canvassed the Democrats who looked at all doubtful agreed tonight that they had but little hope of success, and that with the exception of the two senators from Louisiana, they cannot count upon a single vote.

Senator Smoot will offer amendments to every schedule in the bill. These will be debated at length and a record vote probably will be required on each.

The bill will be laid before the senate tomorrow and will be referred to the finance committee.

Chairman Simmons had hoped to be able to report it from the committee in two weeks from tomorrow, but he now thinks it cannot be reported under three weeks, even if hearings are not held. Opinion in the finance committee is that at least five weeks will be spent by the senate in consideration of the bill after it is reported.

tion of the work of the Anti-Tuberculosis association were urged at the night session of the advisory council.

Dr. Theodore B. Sachs of Chicago, chairman of the committee on hospitals for advanced cases, read what he called a "horrible indictment" against a large number of nonpay hospitals for their methods in treating tuberculosis patients. He urged the forcible removal to and detention in proper hospitals of all cases dangerous to the community through police powers.

Friedmann "Cure" Hurts Cause.

One of the adverse factors that are retarding the prevention of the "white plague" was the characterization applied to Dr. Friedmann's tuberculosis vaccine by President Homer Folkes, in his opening address today.

"Nothing like the series of events," said the speaker, "which followed the announcement of the Friedmann 'cure' in Berlin has hitherto occurred in the tuberculosis campaign. Only those who have been engaged from day to day in inducing state and local authorities to appropriate funds can appreciate how vastly more difficult this task has been in the last few months by the extremely effective press agents of Dr. Friedmann. Thus far it has not been evident to me as a layman that any of those who have had to do with the subject in this country have won much credit."

"When the Friedmann 'cure' has taken its legitimate place, and perhaps has been forgotten, we shall remember those processions coming from everywhere, whom the announcement of the 'cure' summoned to our vision."

If President Wilson's election means anything it means that the government is to be administered by the people's representatives on their behalf, for the benefit of all the people, and that privilege will not have the advantage it has found in the past, but that equal rights to all and special privileges to none will be embodied in every department of this government."

Will Honor Mothers of Nation Sunday

For one day in the year—the day that this year falls on May 11—the newspapers turn their attention away from working girls and their pitifully small remunerations, from the terrible menace of the white slave, from English women using dynamite to prove their valor to Kaiser and America, women parading to prove that they either do or do not care for the same privilege, even from the women who wear the startling cubist modes of the early summer, and turn to a consideration of mothers.

As a subject of news value, 364 days in the year, mothers do fall far below the women of all these classes. There are too many women doing the same things day after day, year after year, for there to be any element of novelty or interest in the occupation of motherhood. Most of the babies of the world belong to the great middle class, the class in which there is usually no money for a nurse girl, and the mothers must give up their time, probably until the youngest child is 5 years old, to considerations of health, diet and morals. There isn't any time for problems or discussions, and the headlines of the daily papers are apt to leave them alone.

But, at the end of a year, the work mothers have been doing so faithfully makes a total that the world can afford to notice. A good many babies may have died because of ignorance or carelessness of mothers or nurse girls, but far more of them have grown rolier and stronger and happier every day. Plenty of older boys and girls have eluded their parents' guidance, and have gone into ways of wickedness, but thousands of them have not. It would take too long to enumerate those who have striven in paths of sobriety and safety, and so the world has paid little attention to them.

But once a year it is a good thing to think of mothers as a class, and to realize the debt the world owes to them. Being a mother is an honorable occupation, and one day in the 365 the fact is properly recognized.

Rice-Rudolph.

The wedding of Miss Anna Mary Rice to Mr. Fred Rudolph was solemnized at 6 o'clock Thursday, May 1, at the home of the bride's parents, 1001 Lincoln avenue. The Rev. J. Y. A bountiful supper was served by the bride's mother, and later the newly married pair left for a wedding trip. They returned yesterday and will be at home to their friends at 1513 Washington avenue. The groom is an employee of the Colorado Midland railroad, and the bride is a popular young resident of the west side.

Greek Dance Indoors.

On account of the uncertainty of the weather, the members of the Minerva society of Colorado college, were forced to entertain the alumnae in the common room at Bemis hall, instead of in the college park, as the plan was. Greek costumes and sandals are not appropriate for wet grass, and it was deemed safer to hold the festivities indoors.

The Greek dance, given under the direction of Miss Davis, was a stately and graceful one. Twelve members of the active society, in classical draperies, with fillets of blue in their hair and bands of blue on the draperies, to carry out the colors of the society, took part in the dance, which was a new one here.

After the dance, tea and sandwiches and other dainties were served. The table was set in the hall, decorated with the Minerva blue and white. Miss Dora Jones poured tea, and the members of the active chapter served. A number of the alumnae and honorary members were present, and the affair was one of the pleasant ones of the spring season at the college.

San Luis Takes Game.

The indoor baseball games that have been in progress among the girls' teams during the spring season are exciting, and every one brings out a number of mothers and friends of the players.

The Broadmoor school has won two games from San Luis, and yesterday the San Luis girls turned the tables, winning an exceptionally good game by the score of 24 to 12. In spite of the threatening weather a number of well wishers gathered to cheer the players on and the afternoon was an exciting one.

Players on the winning team were: Janet Penney, Louise Allen, Nora Ritter, Berthe Armit, Dorothy Price, Eleanor Ross, Margaret Metz, Peris Perkins and Hermine Schmitt.

Broadmoor was represented by Charlotte Kissel, Agnes Donaldson, Madeline Connell, Helen Anderson, Edith Farnsworth, Betty Wheeler, Birney Farrington, Carol Davidson and Sarah Meade Wheeler.

ing the country at least $25,000,000 a year.

The militant section of the British suffragettes intends to inaugurate a campaign of even greater violence in order to avenge the defeat of the woman's suffrage bill Tuesday night and the prosecution of the central militant organization.

Advanced members of the fighting sisterhood declared today that the events of the last few days are to be eclipsed by worse things to come. "Votes for Women," the woman suffrage newspaper edited by Mr. and Mrs. Pethick Lawrence says today.

Dark Period Forecasted.

"We see before the country a period of disorder such as has not been known for decades perhaps for centuries. We see a prospect of violence being answered by violence in a terrible crescendo. We foresee the likelihood of crimes being sympathized with if not condoned and approved by many of the most respected law abiding members of the community."

The police authorities are greatly concerned about the increase of bomb attacks on buildings. Another of these outrages was attempted at Tottenham in the northeast of London this morning. Like the one deposited yesterday in St. Paul's cathedral, the bomb was discovered before it had time to explode. It was found by a caretaker outside the door of a shop.

The authorities have secured evidence that many former constitutional suffragettes have joined the militant body since the defeat of the woman's suffrage bill. There is no question that the number of militants is growing larger.

clops damage act were resumed against the suffragette leaders. She was carried out of court by a jaller and a wardress.

The revelations made during previous hearings had whetted the public appetite and the court was filled to overflowing when the conspirators were brought in. They included besides the "general," Miss Harriet Rebecca Kerr, Miss Agnes Lake, Miss Rachael Barrett, Mrs. Beatrice Saunders, Miss Annie Kenney, Miss Laura Lennox and the chemist, Clayton.

Correspondence Produced.

Further correspondence was produced by counsel of the treasury in which the accused advocated "big things," such as a general raid on the public letter boxes throughout London and a war on the house of lords.

It was suggested that the attack on the peers could be accomplished by means of a suffragette typist, who could secure a position on the reporting staff.

According to Archibald Bodkin, the treasury counsel, a circular was found in Miss Laura Lennox's residence announcing the formation of a branch society called the "Y. H. B." Inspector Lawrence of Scotland Yard explained that the initials stood for "Young, Home, Blood." The society was to be composed of the younger members of the Women's Social and Political union and no married women were eligible for membership.

NEW FACTORY FOR SPRINGS PROBABLE

The Colorado Springs Boosters association held a meeting last night at the W. Daniels store, and the application of seven prospective members were acted upon favorably.

A special committee appointed to take up the matter of securing better railroad rates to Colorado Springs reported that it hopes soon to have definite assurances of railroad concessions for this point, and the work along this line will be continued.

The association endorsed the plan of the Pine Twentieth Century Manufacturing & Reduction company to erect a plant here for the manufacture of a new cleanslog compound. The company is made up of local men, and it is expected that the first unit of the factory will be in operation here within 30 days. The raw material will be secured near Castle Rock, where the finished product now is turned out in small quantities. It is said that the company has an order from Kansas City for 30 carloads of the cleanslog, which will cost $1,000 per car, delivered at that point. It is estimated that the first unit of the factory here will have a payroll of about $400 per week. It is proposed to utilize several by-products commercially at the plant.

The Boosters also pointed out the necessity for local merchants to meet the prices of mail-order houses in order that money now sent many miles away may be kept in Colorado Springs.

ROCK ISLAND TO REDUCE LOCAL RATES ON COAL?

F. J. Shubert, general freight agent of the Rock Island railroad, will be in Colorado Springs within a few days to confer with local officials with a view to establishing new freight rates on Colorado coal to Kansas and Nebraska points. It is said that new tariffs to be announced soon by the interstate commerce commission will include a large reduction in coal rates, and will affect shipping at the mines north of Colorado Springs.

PREDICTS BIG SEASON IN COLORADO THIS YEAR

Frank A. Wadleigh, general passenger agent of the Denver & Rio Grande railroad, was in the city yesterday conferring with local Agent W. H. Cundey and other officials. Mr. Wadleigh is thoroughly impressed with the prospects for what he terms an "A-1 season," and says that already the tourists are beginning to flock to Colorado.

IF YOUR CHILD NEEDS A PHYSIC

If its little stomach is sour, liver sluggish and bowels clogged.

Mother, look at the tongue: see if it is coated. If your child is listless, drooping, isn't sleeping well, is restless, doesn't eat heartily or is cross, irritable, out of sorts with everybody, stomach sour, feverish, breath bad, has stomachache, diarrhoea, sore throat, or is full of cold, it means the little one's stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with waste and need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once.

Give a teaspoonful of Syrup of Figs, and in a few hours the foul, decaying, constipated matter, undigested food and sour bile will gently pass out of its little bowels without nausea, griping or weakness, and you will surely have a well and smiling child shortly.

With Syrup of Figs you are not drugging your children, being composed entirely of lucidous figs, senna and aromatic it cannot be harmful, besides they dearly love its delicious taste.

Mother, should always keep Syrup of Figs handy. It is the only stomach, liver and bowel cleanser and regulator needed—a little given today will save a sick child tomorrow.

Full directions for children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the package.

Ask your druggist for the full name, "Syrup of Figs, and Elixir of Senna," prepared by the California Fig Syrup Co. This is delicious tasting, genuine and reliable. Refuse anything else offered.

Test Case of New Rest Day Measure Early Next Week

The proposed test of the day of rest ordinance is scheduled to come up in police court early next week, in which W. S. Dunning, manager of the Antlers hotel, will be charged with a violation of the new city law which provides that employers must give their employees one day of rest in seven.

Local hotel and restaurant men have organized to fight the new ordinance, and by agreement Dunning is to be made defendant in a test case to secure a court decision on the enforcement of the measure. Irrespective of what verdict is given in police court, the case will be appealed to the district court and possibly carried to the supreme court of the state for decision. Expenses attached to the case will be borne by the recently organized Hotel and Restaurant Men's association of this city.

Members of the organization declare that it is impossible for them to comply with the day of rest law and do business here at a profit or even to give proper service to patrons. To a large extent the help employed in hotels and restaurants is skilled, and their places cannot be filled day after day by unskilled workers in a satisfactory manner, even if such help could be secured.

It is estimated by Mr. Dunning that it would cost the hotel $1,400 a month extra if the new law is enforced, and also would cripple the service to a great extent. Most of the help have easy hours, it is said, and have no complaint to make. It is pointed out as a necessity, however, that the employees be on duty at the hotel every day if the business is to be conducted smoothly and the service up to the standard demanded of first class hotels and restaurants.

City Obeys Law

So far as the city departments are concerned, the new ordinance became effective yesterday, and in accordance with a schedule drawn up by the police department, four patrolmen were off duty for the day. The schedule provides that four patrolmen will be off duty six days a week, and five on the seventh. In the opinion of Chief Burgo, enforcement of the ordinance will cripple the department, but there is apparently no way out of the difficulty.

"We are now running seven men short of the number in the department five years ago," he said, "and while we need at least two more men we have not been able to put them on because of lack of funds. And now, instead of having two more men, we will have four less on six days in the week and five less on one day. This means that to get the same service the city had in the past, an additional expenditure of $4,800 annually would be required."

Under the new arrangement it will be impossible to police the city properly, and not only that, but it looks as if an extra man would be required to see that this ordinance is observed by employers generally and to prosecute cases under it.

It has not been determined whether the vacations heretofore given patrolmen will be abolished, now that the day of rest ordinance gives each man one day off in seven. In the past 12-hour men were given a 15-day vacation with pay and eight-hour men, a 10-day vacation with pay.

In the opinion of Mayor McKesson and the commissioners there is nothing for the city to do but to enforce the new ordinance to the letter.

MISS CROSS TEMPORARY SECRETARY OF Y. W. C. A.

Miss Frances Cross, city secretary for the west central field of the national board of the Young Women's Christian association, arrived yesterday to take up her work as acting secretary of the local Y. W. C. A. for the next month.

Miss Cross will speak at the 5 o'clock vesper session of the association Sunday afternoon, telling of her experiences at the Richmond convention of the national association, which she recently attended. Miss Cross recently assisted in a campaign at Wichita, Kan., where $125,000 was raised for a new building.

Texas is estimated to have coal deposits aggregating 30,000,000,000 tons.

Y. M. C. A. CIRCUS TO OPEN THIS EVENING

An elaborate extravaganza of daring feats by famed acrobats, thrilling tests of athletic skill and sensational scenes of ancient sports, together with funny clowns, will be presented to-night at the opening of the annual Y. M. C. A. circus held in the gymnasium of the building. The final rehearsal for the event was held last night, all the actors appearing in the new costumes, obtained for the occasion. Physical Director J. W. Epps is in charge of the affair.

TOD POWELL, As He Will Appear in the Role of Ringmaster at the Y. M. C. A. Circus.

Tod Powell, medicine man and king of ringmasters, has been signed as ringmaster. To insure his appearance he has been induced to sign a contract, and unless he is on the job the promoters are in a position to levy on him for damages. It is whispered that this will not be Tod's first appearance in the ring (circus ring, of course), but no one knows whether he was started by Barnum & Bailey or the Sells-Floto outfit.

Among the headliners for the circus are the Zouaves and Spanish bull fight. The Zouaves consist of a squad of 17 young athletes who have worked together for several years, and who hold the world's record for scaling a 15-foot wall without the use of other rope or ladder. Their time is one minute, one and one-fifth seconds. An effort will be made to lower this record. "Samrita Papane" and a company of 16 will give an imitation of a Spanish bull fight. Those who have seen the rehearsals for this act are sure that it will be a winner.

Those who are interested in exhibitions of strength should find the hand-balancing stunt of St. John brothers and Sweeney a winner.

Other features will be a strong man's act, known as the batheux manipulating act, presented by Max Well; Indian club swinging by 24 from the beginners' class; Mamelle Stukury and Napoleon; and a large troupe of tumblers. In all there will be 21 big acts and the best talent procurable has been secured. The clowns are numerous and have many novel stunts that will pull a laugh from any audience.

Baking Helps

Valuable Suggestions
By Mrs. Nevada Briggs, Exponent of the Art of Baking, as taught by Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill
Helpful Cake Making Hints

Always sift flour and K.C. Baking Powder at least three times. The more sifting, the lighter the cake. Remember that! To cream butter and sugar quickly; warm the sugar slightly. Beat yolks of eggs with rotary beater. Whip whites of eggs with flat spoon whip. Water makes lighter cakes; milk makes richer cakes.

To mix a cake, first cream butter and sugar thoroughly, then add yolks, if used. Then alternately add moisture and flour that has been sifted with baking powder and stir until smooth and glossy, adding egg whites after thoroughly mixing.

Always use K.C. Baking Powder.

Biscuit Helps

Always sift flour and K.C. Baking Powder at least three times.

Have shortening cold and firm. Mix dough as soft as it can be handled. The softer dough goes into the oven, the lighter the biscuit when it comes out. It is easier for K.C. Baking Powder to do its work in soft than in stiff dough. Mix biscuits very little. Do not knead. Stir up with spoon or knife and press in shape to roll on floured board.

With K.C. Baking Powder results are sure and certain. Ask your grocer for K.C.

News of Local Courts

The $5,000 damage suit of Mrs. Ellen Dwyer against George A. Taff, an electrical engineer, for the death of her husband more than a year ago, has been set for trial in the district court next Monday. The Dwyers were driving in a wagon near the town of Husted, and, it is alleged, that the team became frightened at Taff's automobile when it started to pass from the rear. It is claimed that in passing, the machine caught the bridle of one of the horses and that the team ran away. Dwyer was so badly injured in the runaway accident that he died shortly afterward.

Ed Rinehart, arrested Wednesday night by Officers Van Hook and Carpenter, is to be tried in Justice Dunnington's court on a charge of carrying concealed weapons. At the time of his arrest Rinehart, it is said, had a long iron rod secreted in his sleeve.

In police court yesterday M. P. McClain forfeited a $2 bail bond on a charge of intoxication. Thomas Olen was fined $5 and Thomas Quinn, $4, for drunkenness, and Jacob A. Boyer was instructed to keep his dog off the premises of a neighbor.

A CHILDREN'S PLAYGROUND

TWO or three months ago the Council passed an ordinance creating a commission to consider the whole problem of providing healthful amusement for both children and adults. This commission, composed of representatives of all of the public organizations in the city, both official and non-official, has considered the question carefully, and although it has made no official report it has definitely recommended that a public playground for children be established in Monument Valley Park.

In a preliminary report which is confined to this subject the commission advises that a playground be established in the portion of Monument Valley Park between the Mesa Road and Boulder street, and lying immediately north and south of the lake. The part of the grounds south of the lake would be used for a baseball ground, as it is at present used by the boys of the Bristol school. The north part would be made into a playground for the smaller children, and fitted with sand boxes and other appliances for their use, and with gymnastic appliances, similar to those now in use at Stratton Park, for the older children.

A necessary concomitant of this plan is the employment of a thoroughly competent supervisor of play. It is not enough to install swings, horizontal bars, and similar devices unless there is somebody in charge to direct their use, and prevent the youngsters from getting in trouble. This is not a new plan; it has been in use for many years throughout the country, and experience has shown the absolute necessity of adequate supervision. A capable supervisor must be present at all times, not only to prevent injury to the children from reckless play, but to keep their interest aroused by devising new games.

The estimated cost of installing this system, for the first year, is $1,200. This would really mean more than the first year's cost, for it would not only pay the salary of the supervisor, but would provide apparatus which could be used for many years to come.

There is no room for argument as to the advantages of a properly supervised public playground over the old-fashioned method of allowing children to play in the streets or on vacant lots. The results attained in the many cities where up-to-date playgrounds have been established under proper supervision are convincing. The child who is left to his own devices is subject to all manner of bad influences, and in addition he is deprived of the essential stimulus which a competent supervisor can give. If our children are to develop well-balanced characters, if they are to become men and women of the right sort, they must be kept off the streets and given an opportunity to play, and later to work, along the right lines. Everybody knows what becomes of the child of the streets; it is better to spend a little money on properly supervised playgrounds which will train the child in a saner and more effective way.

To put this plan into effect a fund of not less than $1,200 is needed, to be raised by public subscription. If this amount is subscribed next week the playground in Monument Valley Park will be established and a supervisor engaged. Our opinion is that the public generally, and especially the parents, ought to give the plan their cordial support.

AUTOMOBILE HIGHWAYMEN

WE print in the Open Parliament a letter from a man who says that he was held up by the village constable of Fountain, and assessed $10, because he drove through that metropolis at the rate of eighteen miles an hour. His letter is imbued with a spirit of fairness which invites consideration. It suggests a contemplation of the whole question of the waylaying of motorists for purposes of revenue only.

Everybody knows that within recent years it has become the established custom of small villages, which happen to lie on the main roads, to enact ordinances imposing heavy fines on motorists who drive through at a rate faster than 10 or 12 miles an hour. Everybody knows, too, or at least everybody who has ever driven an automobile knows, that such a law is nothing less than a pretense; it is a hold-up, a cleverly devised scheme for enriching the town treasury at the expense of passers-by. It is only a slight modification of the primitive custom prevalent in England two or three centuries ago of holding up travelers at the point of a gun and relieving them of their valuables. It is merely a pretext to say that driving a motor car at a rate faster than 10 miles an hour imperils the safety of other users of the highway; for anybody with an ounce of gray matter in his cranium knows that the fact is quite different.

But it happens that there are a few whistling stations, like Fountain and Colorado City in this vicinity, which have taken upon this plan as a convenient and practicable means of raising revenue. The reason is that they happen to be located on main roads, and motorists must of necessity pass through their boundaries. Then what simpler than pass an ordinance limiting vehicles to ten miles an hour? Of course, not one driver in a dozen is aware of the local law, so he drives through at a normal speed of 15 or 18 miles an hour, only to be held up by the village constable and blackmailed (for that is what it amounts to) for a $10 fine.

We fully appreciate the desire of the small towns to take toll from passing traffic. But it may be well to remind them that there is only one legitimate method of doing this, and that is to put up a toll gate and exact a fee for the use of the road. To extract money from travelers by any other method is merely an evasion and a subterfuge. Nowadays most of the travel on country roads hereabouts is automobile travel, and if Fountain continues its greedy policy of exacting toll from all travelers in the guise of a fine, it may have a chance to repeat at leisure. For it is not altogether necessary to pass through Fountain in getting from Colorado Springs to Pueblo. A detour of a few hundred yards will easily cut out that town, and leave it high and dry, and yearning for its departed easy money.

BEWARE OF FOUNTAIN!

To the Editor of The Gazette:
 I am taking the liberty of writing you and asking your cooperation in warning automobile drivers, who make the trip from Colorado Springs to Pueblo, to be very careful to observe the speed regulation of 10 miles per hour while passing through the little village of Fountain, or better still, to avoid the village altogether, as a good many Pueblo drivers are already doing.

While on my way to Pueblo last Friday en route to Albuquerque, I was arrested, with several young friends at Fountain. A few blocks from the main street we had a puncture and stopped to change tires. Upon starting I unconsciously made a little slip and was going 15 miles when I commenced to slow down. Just at this time the village marshal stepped out a hundred feet ahead and with drawn revolver commanded us to halt. Then without seeing the judge, he fined us $10, refusing to hear a single plea in our defense. As I paid the fine he put it in his pocket and gave us a sneering smile as though we were an easy mark.

Naturally we were indignant and hit it up to 30 miles an hour in going on, a proceeding I do not try to defend but which at the time I could not help.

I left my car at Pueblo and proceeded here. I left my friends at Pueblo and they drove my car back to the Springs. When 10 miles from there they were met by Chief Burns who informed them that they were wanted in Fountain. He tried to fix matters with the village marshal, but he refused to allow them to settle with Chief Burns and they were forced to make the trip to Fountain with the marshal. Now while recognizing the right and justice of arresting and fining automobilists, I also ask for justice and some degree of courtesy from the officer making the arrest.

At Pueblo I found many drivers who had been fined at Fountain and the Pueblo papers have been warning their townspeople to avoid the village. I do not want others to receive the treatment I have, and hence you will either print a short article in your paper or a copy of this letter.

Thanking you in advance, and assuring you I will be very glad to aid in the enforcing of your speed regulations, I am,
 H. G. F.

FROM OTHER PENS

DR. FRIEDMANN'S VISIT MAY COME TO A DEPLORABLE END.

From the New York Tribune.
 It will be a melancholy end to Dr. Friedmann's mission here if it turns out that he has assigned his turtle germ consumption cure to an American corporation which will exploit it commercially. We live in what is known as an age of commercialism, yet there are still departments of human endeavor in which the finer tradition of work for the world's sake has not given way to the sordid gospel of dollars and cents.

The profession which Dr. Friedmann follows has been honorably distinguished for its humanitarian spirit and for its unselfish efforts to mitigate human suffering. It has put the patient above the dollar and has felt that its first service should be to mankind of to science and its second to itself. However much it has been affected by the inroads of the commercial spirit into modern life, it has held fast to the conception that fame and gratitude should be the chief rewards of the discoverer of any new process for fighting disease. The medical profession has never stooped so far as to recognize as laudable or legitimate the purpose of a discoverer to monopolize the application of his remedy and to collect tribute on all or most of the cases which it might cure.

Dr. Friedmann's example were to be followed generally one of the most generous ideals of conduct which any body of workers has ever established would be destroyed. What the world needs most nowadays is to preserve such ideals and to broaden them, so that the impulse to public service in many other fields of effort may outstep the impulse to private gain.

It may be that the Friedmann turtle germ is a genuine cure for consumption, and not the sort of patent medicine palliative which is usually disposed of by commercial methods similar to those to which the German physician and his associates are now resorting. If authentic, it might go a long way to relieving a vast amount of human suffering. Yet even assuming as proved the most which has ever been promised in its behalf, it would be dear at the price of absorbing the physician from his immortal sense of obligation to science and to the community and debasing the art of healing to the level of a mere money-making trade.

SHIPS FOR THE PACIFIC

From the Philadelphia Inquirer.
 No doubt it would add to the spectacular glory of the United States should the fleet of battleships be sent on a cruise in the Mediterranean next January, as is proposed.

But spectacular glory is one thing and common sense is another.

There is not one first-class battleship in the Pacific. We do not suppose that the Japanese government is going to permit itself to be stampeded into hostile action. It certainly would not be if our battleships were in the Pacific instead of the Atlantic.

But they are not there, and Hawaii would present an inviting field should Japanese temper break its bounds.

It isn't common sense to permit such an inviting field to exist. Instead of preparing the battleships for a summer holiday in the Mediterranean, the administration would do much better if it sent a few of them around Cape Horn to Honolulu and San Francisco, and sent them at once.

"I Didn't Stop a Moment"

By RUTH CAMERON.

"Keep busy to keep happy" is one of the wisest bits of advice in proverb makers ever wrote. There is nothing that I ask of life any more fervently than that I may be too busy to be lonely and too busy to be sad, to the very end of my days.

But we should not forget that there is another angle to this matter, as to everything on earth. One must keep busy in order to keep happy, but one must keep fit in order to be able to keep busy. And in order to keep fit, one must not drive oneself too hard, must not cram every waking moment full of business.

"I don't see why I'm so tired tonight," I heard a woman say the other day. "I haven't done any heavy work, or anything that ought to tire me."

"What have you been doing?" I asked.

"Goodness," she said, "don't ask me! It would take half the evening to tell you. I put the house in order and then I went downtown to have my suit fitted. While I was there I did half a dozen little errands and put in an hour at the dentist's. This afternoon I wrote a big batch of notes in regard to some statistics I am getting for our women's club, spent an hour or so at the telephone making arrangements for our college sorority banquet, finished that waist I was making—and what else did I do?" "Oh, yes, I know," and did up two of my fuzzy collars."

"Then you were pretty busy most of the day?" I asked.

"Busy! I should say so," she retorted. "I didn't stop a minute."

And yet she wondered why she was tired.

"I didn't stop a minute"—how often that could be said of the average woman's day.

How many women fill every hour of their waking time crammed, jammed full of such activities, rushing breathlessly from one to another, often nervous and hurried because they are afraid of not being able to get everything in, or of having some time for some appointment. How many women fill their days with 16 or 17 short hours, and their weeks with seven such days, and then wonder why they are tired and nervous, why they are easily fretted, why they don't enjoy life as much as they did when they were younger!

No day should be planned so full of activities that there will be no passive time left. Every day should have some moments unplanned, some time kept for the unexpected call or for just relaxing.

Only so can one be fit to really enjoy the great privilege of being busy. Labor is the salt of life. Do not spoil your capacity to enjoy it. For if the salt have lost its savor, whither shall it be salted?

Coal Miners

By GEORGE FITCH,
 Author of "At Good Old Slawash"

A coal miner is a brave man with broad shoulders, who sticks a lamp into his cap and goes down in among the ribs of the planet in order to excavate coal enough to keep the world warm next winter.

Coal mining is as uncomfortable as riding back and forth on the New York subway. The coal miner does not have to hang from a strap, but he must lie on his side and cut out tons and tons of coal with a pick. When he has done this for four or five hours his complexion is a rich, only black, and the only clean thing about him is his smile, which looks like a gash in a watermelon. Coal miners bathe as often as the upper classes, but put more vigor and muscle into the job.

Coal mining is as dangerous as telling the truth in Tennessee politics. If the roof of the mine does not fall on the miner or he is not choked by choke damp or burned by fire damp or desiccated by a blast which has waited a while to think it over before exploding, he may live to a good old age, but this is not customary. Coal miners work from 100 to 500 feet under ground, and in case of trouble they have only two fire escapes—both upward. A coal mine ought at least to have as many exits as a nickel theater.

Coal miners and New York business men have a good deal in common. Both work about six hours a day and both travel the last quarter of a mile to their jobs in elevators. When the coal miner steps into his elevator the engineer steps him down so fast that if he were to fall he would bang his head against the roof of the car.

The coal miner makes from four to six dollars a day while living, but there he differs from the New York business man. He makes nothing at all after he is dead. Mining towns are full of miners' families who are trying to exist on the income of the $800 which the father earned by getting under a piece of falling rock.

Mining coal is not as hard or as disagreeable as running for office, but it is wearing work and no one should blame the miner for striking now and then if he can get a vacation in no other way.

BECKER WILL ASK FOR MORE TIME FOR APPEAL

ALBANY, N. Y., May 8.—The court of appeals on Monday will be asked to extend the time in which may be argued the appeal in the case of former Police Lieutenant Charles Becker of New York, who is under sentence of death in Sing Sing prison for the murder of Herman Rosenthal, the gambler. Becker's attorney, Joseph A. Shay, sent an affidavit to this effect to the court yesterday. In the affidavit Attorney Shay sets forth that he wishes the time extended in order that he might have more time to investigate possible new evidence in the case that may tend to the granting of a new trial. Unless the court grants the request Becker's appeal must be argued by May 20.

TWO MEMBERS OF CREW SUSPECTED OF MURDER

QUEENSTOWN, Ireland, May 8.—Two of the crew of the steamship Merion, which arrived here this morning from Philadelphia, are being kept under close supervision until the vessel reaches Liverpool. They are under suspicion of being connected with the murder of Lindsey, the third engineer of the steamship, whose body was found in the Delaware river after the Merion had sailed from Philadelphia on April 27. No action was taken by the authorities here but it was learned that blood stains were found on the steamer loading at the suspicion that the murder was committed on board and the body of the victim was thrown overboard.

Harvard Medical School Will Study "Verruga"

WASHINGTON, May 8.—Verruga, a mysterious disease peculiar to the high valleys of Peru, is to be studied by Harvard university. It was learned here today that Dr. Richard P. Strong of the department of tropical medicine in the Harvard medical school, and two assistants have started for the South American country. Dr. Strong has gained eminence by his study in the Philippines of the causes of beri beri and his discovery of its cure and for his work with cholera and other diseases.

After his return from Peru, Dr. Strong is planning to go to Brazil to study beri beri in the Madera-Mamora region. The disease there is different from that of the east and does not yield to the same treatment.

IN THE EARLY DAYS

THIRTY YEARS AGO TODAY

 Quite a number of people were already making the ascent of Pikes Peak.

The El Paso County Sunday School association was in session here at its annual convention.

F. E. Robinson installed a new plate glass window in his drug store, which presented a very attractive appearance.

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

 There was a meeting of the Colorado

The buildings at the Chicago fair were illuminated with electricity for the first time. So unusual was the sight that press dispatches read: "When, shortly before 10 o'clock, the currents were turned off, a sigh went up from thousands of hearts, and darkness put an end to a scene of splendor which, as was probably never before presented to human eyes."

Plans were being shown for a new glass works plant which was to be installed in Colorado City.

MEN TO COOKING SCHOOLS

Women Are Being Displaced in Culinary Art in England

From the Kansas City Star.

LONDON.—They're not like the pie's father used to make.

That paraphrase seems destined to replace the popular household argument on the excellence of mother's pastry in England at least. With so many of the womanfolk nowadays out politically demonstrating, window smashing, pouring acid in mail boxes and occasionally trying to blow up cabinet members, Englishmen apparently are awakening to a sense of their responsibilities in connection with the problem of domestic economy. Tangible evidence of that tendency is presented in the fact that cooking schools throughout the country report a big increase in the number of men pupils of all classes and ages in the last few months.

Although it is true that the new pupils include many bachelors and widowers, the cooking school proprietors attribute the sudden masculine interest in the culinary art largely to the suffragist campaign. Another reason is the recent activity of the police authorities in enforcing the law closing restaurants at midnight, which compels the young man who wishes to give a quiet feed to his friends after a late theater to take them to his own apartments.

Prefer the Men Students.

In London especially, the culinary colleges are overcrowded and in many cases they have had to turn away eager applicants. As a rule the instructors say they prefer men students to women, because, it is averred, they are more apt to inject originality into the composition of their products.

"I have found that the Englishman is as much of a sportsman in cooking as in anything else," remarked a leading professional chef to your correspondent. "After mastering the rudiments of the art, he very quickly starts experimenting with ingredients or proportions of his own devising. Therein lies the chief difference between the man and the woman amateur cook. The woman usually follows the very letter of the recipes in her favorite 'cook books.' With her, cooking is a science rather than an art. And she leaves nothing to chance. But man does not relish such a sure thing game. There must be some hazard for him, even in cooking. Hence, when he feels confident enough in his own process he chuckles his cook book out the window.

Woman Are Less Apt.

"To meet the peculiar demands of our men pupils we have had to add special courses to our ordinary curriculum. We find it difficult, for instance, to interest men students in the preparation of decorative small cakes and other light and airy articles that ordinarily go with afternoon tea. But when the class in Welsh rarebits, deviled kidneys, braised sweetbreads, or curry sauces is called to order, the men are right on the job. Also, we receive many more suggestions from the men than from the women. Externs who have been outside of England want to learn how to prepare some particularly pleasing dish encountered in his travels. And those who have dabbled in the cookery of camp life or hunting expeditions apparently find irresistible the lure of repeating their experiments under more favorable conditions on returning to civilization."

The awakened interest of men in cooking recalls some famous Englishmen of the past who were fond of meddling with the casserole and grill-iron. The late George Augustus Cook was an accomplished all-around cook. Du Maurier was a master of the bouillabaisse about which he wrote in "Trilby." Whistler toasted muffins most artistically for his studio friends, and Dion Boucicault was one of the greatest salad mixers of his day.

Taboo Hobble Skirt

SARANAC LAKE, N. Y., May 8.—The "hobble" skirt and all varieties of the narrow skirts which women wear have received the official condemnation of the guides in the Adirondacks. A recent accident in which a woman fell into the water while landing from a boat and was nearly drowned is only one of several mishaps charged against the skirts which prompted the guides to meet in a formal convention at Rainbow lake yesterday to act upon the situation. A resolution was passed that narrow skirts on women don't belong in the Adirondacks and we condemn them.

CAPTAIN JOHNSTON, COMMANDER OF SENECA, WHO IS WARNING LINERS AGAINST ANOTHER TITANIC FATE

Liners have not sunk any transatlantic liner this year. And the chief reason perhaps is the presence of the cutters Seneca and Miami along the routes of the great ships. Captain Johnston has had the Seneca in the north Atlantic for more than three weeks, and has constantly reported to liners plying between Europe and the United States. It is familiar ground for the crew, for the vessel was the first government ship sent to the scene of the Titanic disaster just a year ago.

The First Cocoa

The first cocoa ever made for drinking and cooking purposes, was prepared by C. J. Van Houten in 1828. From that time to this, Van Houten's Cocoa has been pre-eminent—because of its rich, chocolate flavor. It's the original Dutch process Cocoa. All the way from Holland comes this pleasing, Dutch nutmilk, so that you, too, now can enjoy it.

VAN HOUTEN'S RONA DUTCH COCOA

Van Houten's Rona Dutch Cocoa is made from the finest Dutch Cocoa beans, which are roasted and then ground in a special way, so that the cocoa is in a fine, uniform state. When you want to make cakes, tarts, puddings and other confections, use Rona Dutch Cocoa instead of chocolate. The flavor is much richer.

Ask Your Grocer

Just say to your grocer, "I want Van Houten's Rona Dutch Cocoa." In the big red can. One of its delicious, chocolate flavor will convince you that it is the best cocoa on the market. Two sizes—10c and 25c.

KANSAS CITY BANDIT IS DESPERATE CRIMINAL?

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 8.—That the robber who last week held up a Kansas City Southern train here, shot Jesse M. Short of Joplin and escaped with $1,100 is William La Trasse, a desperate criminal who escaped from the Wyandotte county, Kansas, jail two years ago after being convicted of train robbery, was the theory of detectives today.

La Trasse, at the time of his arrest, was said to be wanted in Chicago for the murder of a saloonkeeper, and in St. Joseph, Mo., where he escaped jail. A bloody shirt picked up in the weeds along the railroad tracks, 14 miles east of Kansas City, today encouraged the posse on the trail of a wounded man, believed to be the robber.

Louis Watson, another wounded man, has been held by the police in connection with the robbery and identified by Short as his assailant. He is in custody pending efforts to substantiate Short's identification.

WOMEN OF ILLINOIS MAY GET PARTIAL SUFFRAGE

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 8.—The bill by which the women of Illinois would be granted suffrage on all statutory offices of the state was ordered favorably reported by the elections committee of the house today. The measure passed the senate yesterday by a vote of 29 to 15, and its friends assert that it will receive equally favorable consideration by the lower branch of the legislature. Governor Dunne has not yet indicated his attitude on the measure.

INSURANCE CO'S. DEMUR TO MISSOURI LITIGATION

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., May 8.—Attorneys for the fire insurance companies in this state, owing to the anti-trust insurance law, today filed in the supreme court demurrers to the quo warranto proceedings instituted by Attorney General Barker.

The attorney asserts the attorney general has not set forth a cause of action and asks the court to dismiss the temporary order.

The supreme court granted the companies 10 days in which to file briefs and the attorney general seven days thereafter to reply. Attorney General Barker said that the suits against the companies continuing business in the state would be dismissed.

Superintendent of Insurance Revelle received word today from another company that it would not quit the state.

HITS BANDIT WITH CAN OF TOMATOES; THEN STABS HIM WITH THE OPENER

PUEBLO, Colo., May 8.—When a bandit carrying a huge revolver entered the Arcade cafe early this morning and ordered Joe Seligman, the proprietor, to throw up his hands, Seligman hurled the contents of a can of tomatoes in the holdups' eyes and stabbed him with the can opener. He then took the revolver from the temporarily blinded robber, who made a dash for the door and escaped.

Seligman then proceeded to open another can of tomatoes for today's soup.

PRES. WILSON TENDERED JOB TO J. P. MITCHELL

WASHINGTON, May 8.—Varying reports as to who originally proposed John Purroy Mitchell to be collector of the port of New York brought from the White house today a statement that President Wilson himself had requested Mr. Mitchell to take the office. It became known that Senator O'Gorman and Secretary McAdoo both concurred in the selection after Mr. Wilson had suggested Mr. Mitchell. The White house statement was as follows:

Mr. John Purroy Mitchell has accepted appointment as collector of customs at New York at the president's request. At no time has Mr. Mitchell been a candidate for the office. It is felt that it is under an obligation to conclude certain important matters now before the committee of the board of estimates and apportionment of the city of New York of which he is chairman, notably the organization of terminal facilities on the west side of Manhattan island and the organization of railroad and marine terminal facilities in south Brooklyn and he is reluctant to surrender his present office while these remain unfinished. The president, recognizing the importance of these public matters, is willing that Mr. Mitchell's assumption of the office of collector if confirmed, shall be postponed until June 1 to permit him to complete his part in these matters.

When President Wilson sent the name of Mr. Mitchell to the senate yesterday, the name was spelled by mistake "Mitchell" and this will necessitate the sending of the nomination in a second time.

WILLIAM ROCKEFELLER NOW IN GOOD HEALTH

BRIARCLIFFE MANOR, N. Y., May 8.—William Rockefeller, whose health was so shattered last February that he nearly collapsed when the congressional committee investigating the money trust attempted to take his testimony, is believed to be now enjoying comparatively good health. The capitalist who reaches his seventy-third birthday the latter part of this month, walked from his home here down to the Briarcliffe lodge where the executive committee of the American Bankers association was holding its session yesterday, and inquired where the crowd came from. When he learned of the nature of the gathering he made no effort to meet any of the bankers, as his throat weakness still troubles him. He seemed, however, much improved in general health.

"UNCLE JOE'S" CARD TABLE SELLS FOR $16

WASHINGTON, May 8.—The card table of former Speaker Cannon, around which many notable statesmen have met in games of chance and skill, today went under the auctioneer's hammer for $16 and the gas lamp, which shed its rays upon the men who sat around the board, brought $1.25. The last tie that linked the veteran legislator to the national capital has been broken, for when he left for his home in Danville, Ill., he took with him the furnishings which he desired. The remainder he left here to be sold.

The sale was attended by about 200 persons, many of them women, the wives of men prominent in official life, who sought articles as souvenirs. The house, which was the residence here in being renovated, and after a thorough cleaning up and a fresh coat of paint will be used as a boarding house.

BALTIMORE, May 8.—Miss Louise Warfield, daughter of former Governor Edwin Warfield, and Count Vladimir Ledochowski of Poland, were married today at the residence of the bride's parents by the Rev. Dr. William A. Fletcher, rector of the cathedral.

Cardinal Gibbons was present and gave the young couple his blessing after a few words of advice and admonition upon the sacredness of matrimony and the marriage tie.

The wedding was a simple affair, the guests being mostly relatives of the Warfield family. The Count and Countess Ledochowski expect to sail for Europe next Saturday and will reside in Poland.

GETTING EVEN WITH BARNES

By ROBERT MACKAY

THE routine daily life of John Hendy, broker and bachelor, included the wearing of a spray of lilacs-of-the-valley. For twenty odd years the little florist around the corner had left, twice daily, a boutonniere of pure little bells at the Hendy apartment. Seasons did not affect the fad, or custom wither it. In fact, Mr. Hendy was so identified with the flowers that he was jokingly known among his fellow brokers as "Old Lilly Bell." The boutonniere was the shining touch of his immaculate person.

On this particular day, John Hendy was seated in a Sixth Avenue trolley car. It had just reached the busiest section of New York's shopping district, and the usual swarm of parcel-laden, chattering women entered John Hendy noticed in the crowd a pretty young woman tugging along a dear little of a four-year-old girl. She edged her way along the car and stopped in front of him—stopped because the mass of passengers prevented her from going farther. She was tired, and the sight she uttered proved it. Hendy arose and gave her his seat.

She sat very close to the next passenger to make room for the four-year-old, whose eyes were quickly arrested by the boutonniere of lilacs Mr. Hendy was wearing. He swung his gracefully as possible from a strap, humped against the little one, and as he leaned over to apologize, she smilingly requested him to give her a flower.

"Ruth! How dare you!" said the young woman.

The child, her face crimsoning, turned and buried her head on her mother's shoulder. A few moments passed and she peeped up shyly at the lilacs. Mr. Hendy caught her eye and smiled responsively.

"Madam," said Mr. Hendy, "your little girl has been admiring my lilacs. Will you permit me to present them to her?" The upturned face and the entrextended hand of the child were the answer.

When he reached home there was mild consternation among his soft-voiced, soft-footed servants when they noted the absence of the lilacs. Something was about to happen, they surmised—direful perhaps, disastrous possibly, but extraordinary surely.

Dinner was over. The man of the lilacs sat in his library, gazing absently out over the green dimness of the park, amid which arc lights flitted and gleamed like big fireflies. From the nearby roofgarden of a big hotel came the filtered strains of a waltz. In his apartment was that velvety quiet that belongs to dwellings of high rents and thick carpets. The combination inspired him to dwell with old memories.

In business circles, Hendy had the reputation of being a bulldog in pertinacity. This kept him on the trail of Archibald Barnes for a score of years. Both men when quite young went into Wall Street, and prospered. When nearly thirty years of age, Hendy was accepted by Gertrude Harrington, daughter of the cashier of a small New Jersey bank. Barnes had been in love with her also. He took the engagement coolly, and congratulated Hendy, his closest friend, in a very warm fashion. Shortly after the engagement was announced, Hendy had months of persistent bad luck. His finances were so impaired that the wedding was indefinitely postponed. One day he became cognizant of a forthcoming movement in a group of certain industrialists. The program was cut and dried by a clique going over his resources. Hendy discovered that he was short two or three thousand dollars of the total amount needed to bring about the coup that meant fortune to him. Under a sworn promise of secrecy, he confided the situation to Barnes. Barnes at once advanced the money required and intimated that if Hendy didn't object he'd take a "dutter" himself.

"By the way," suggested Barnes, "why don't you let your future father-in-law in on this? He's old, can't work very much longer, and it would be a Christian act to allow him to get a dead sure thing."

"Capital! Yes, Archie." Next day Hendy's cashier put the savings of a lifetime in the deal.

The movement contemplated was the ever-old and ever-new method of "bearing" the industrialists, buying them out at their minimum figure, permitting them to slowly regain their normal prices, inaugurating a sudden boom and, before the strength is spent, throwing the remaining securities on the market. The first part of the program worked fairly well, although there was a feeling in the air that somebody was antagonistic to the full fruition of the scheme. Then, just as the boom was inaugurated, it seemed to burst like a bubble.

"A temporary movement," said Hendy.

The shorts hammered, hammered, hammered the stocks until they "sank to the hub." Margins and again margins and once more margins melted like mists of morning. At the end of three days Hendy was literally penniless. The old cashier's earnings had gone. Barnes declared he had been so hard hit that he couldn't lend his friend even a hundred dollars.

A week later, Hendy received a curt note from Gertrude's father. "I beg that you will discontinue your visits to my home," it said. Enclosed was a line from Gertrude, endorsing the sentiment. The heartbroken man sought Barnes, and Barnes unsympathetically said, "It serves you right."

A few days later the newspapers began to publish sensational headlines about a budding Napoleon of finance.

All this floated across the mirror of Mr. Hendy's memory as he sat solitary in his library. Between whiles would come the eyes of the child he had seen in the car, or the eyes of his old sweetheart, he scarcely knew which, they were so alike. But, sometimes, when the eyes seemed true and trustful, he thought of them as the eyes of the child, looking at him when he gave her the lilacs. When they seemed sad and reproachful he fancied them to be the eyes of the woman who would surely have cause for sadness within the next week or so, when his wrath should fall swiftly and surely on her husband and all that was his.

The coming bear movement was the most perfect bit of destructive financial machinery that he had designed during his whole career. Barnes had been heavily hit over N. Y., as he knew. There were street rumors about certain speculations in local transportation stocks that had further depleted the Barnes exchequer.

Mr. Hendy, with a grim, satisfied chuckle, stepped out upon the balcony to finish his cigar in the quiet of the autumn night. From the street came the quick, sweet laugh of a child. The leaf of a neighboring vine, dead before its time, wavered toward the listening man. It fluttered, paused, and alighted might not follow, but the chill of the certain winter was already cooling much of the fire in his veins. The silence and mystery of the darkness that brooded over the park, the solemn stars, seemed to emphasize the mightiness of the questions that he would be called upon, shortly, to confront, and the smallness of the things with which he had to do at the moment. He wondered what could come from revenge after all.

Once more there rose a thrill of young laughter. Hendy stood and looked down at the street.

"And but for Barnes," he said to himself, "I, too, might be a child-drum—perhaps like the little one in the car. He robbed me of the best in life, and I'm only just finding out what I have really lost. Surely it is right that I punish him."

Moodily combating his growing disinclination to carry out his purpose, Hendy called for his hat and strolled toward his club. The faces there were too familiar. He wanted recreation, so he walked down Broadway to a roof-garden. He sighed as he noticed that the entering crowds were invariably couples man and wife, youth and maiden, even the tots who were not in bed seemed to obey the universal impulse, and paired off prettily.

At the sides of the roofgarden were small, rustic, vine-clad recesses. In one of these Hendy anchored himself and communed with a waiter. Then he began to take cognizance of the surroundings. He scarcely noted that at the table nearest him the chairs were unoccupied, when the people for whom it had been reserved arrived and seated themselves. They were half a dozen in all, and with a sort of dumb astonishment, Hendy saw among them Barnes, and a handsome, dignified gray-haired woman in whom he had no difficulty in recognizing the Gertrude of his youth.

Gertrude Barnes! Her maidenly beauty had ripened into matronly winsomeness. The intense blue of her eyes remained. For that the watcher felt curiously thankful. Barnes looked worn and haggard. Hendy, familiar with the Street and its crop of physical and mental ills, had no difficulty in translating the lapse into abstraction, the forced gaiety, the nervous movements of the fingers, the sallow skin, and the shifting, irritated gaze of the man before him. Barnes was being hit, and hit heavily, so these signs said.

Hendy felt sure that the stricken man saw farther ahead than his current difficulties; and, seeing, looked upon a hopeless future.

The watcher turned to the wife. A faint throb of jealousy and disappointment ran through him as he saw the unmistakable look of affection that lit up the woman's face when she spoke to or was addressed by the man. He

There was consternation among his soft-voiced, soft-footed servants.

Cripple Creek Mines

WORK IS STARTED ON
PIKES PEAK PLACER

CRIPPLE CREEK, May 8.—For the leasers who have taken over the Pikes Peak placer, which was last operated in 1894 when it was stopped because the water from the sluices was polluting the stream which furnished a number of residents of the town and of the city with water for domestic use, three men have been put to work. They are employed near the county hospital and are digging trenches preparatory to the installation of two small dredges to be used in the placer mining. The machinery for the dredges has been ordered and will be ready in a short time. They will be constructed and on the ground by June. This is the first work of special importance to be done on Mineral Hill this year, and it is believed to be a forerunner of activity for the Mineral Hill section for the summer season.

GOLD SOVEREIGN WILL ERECT NEW MILL HOUSE

CRIPPLE CREEK, May 8.—The excavating for the new mill house which is to be constructed at the Gold Sovereign on Bull hill has been completed and the mill house will be erected immediately. The process used for the extraction of the gold from the dump rock will be straight leaching and the simplest that can be found. It is understood that the general average of the rock contained in the dumps at the Gold Sovereign will run better than $3 a ton and for that reason should make a good mill lease. In addition to the dumps, the Union Leasing company, which concern is operating the mine and is now pitting up the mill, the waste rock from the ore house will be put through this mill in the time to come.

PRIDE OF CRIPPLE CREEK
LEASED TO J. A. MORRISON

CRIPPLE CREEK, May 8.—The Pride of Cripple Creek on Ironclad hill, owned by Denver people, has been steamed up by J. A. Morrison of the Camilla mine and he has started work on the fourth level for himself as well as St. Paul associates. It is intended to do a good deal of prospecting and this will involve the opening up of that territory near the contact where the flu veins have been found to be rich. Good ore has been produced from these flats in the past as well as in adjoining mines.

There is a possibility that after a time, if the values show up, the shaft will be sunk and the mine developed from a new depth. On the Camilla a drift to the north is being continued as well as development work in other parts of the mine on the bottom level.

NEW YORK MARKET

NEW YORK, May 8.—Speculation drifted back into a lethargic condition today and movements of stocks were narrow and meaningless. The sharp fluctuations which in the week seemed to have exhausted the resources of traders, and on neither side of the market was there a disposition to take the initiative.

The face of yesterday's brisk rally, bear traders made no attempt to operate extensively. At the same time the market still reflected the lack of buying power. This apathetic condition was illustrated by the market's singular lack of responsiveness to two important developments: the government crop report, showing an improvement over the previous estimates, themselves highly satisfactory; and an indicated winter wheat crop of 612,000,000 bushels, compared with an indicated yield of 570,000,000 bushels. The location of this report fell flat as a market influence.

The monthly figures of the Copper Producers, the second development, revealed a shrinkage in stocks on hand of nearly 25,000,000 pounds. Although a selling advance was predicted, the amount was much in excess of estimates, bringing down the stocks of the metal to the smallest figure reported since last September. A slight advance in Amalgamated occurred after the appearance of the figures, but otherwise the showing passed unnoticed in the market.

There were a few weak features. Canadian Pacific was depressed more than 2 points by selling from more highly satisfactory, and an indicated which there has been talk of a possible cut in dividend, touched a new low figure for the year at 62 1/2.

Bonds were irregular, but there was an undertone of firmness. Total sales, par value, $1,750,000.

CHICAGO MARKET

CHICAGO, May 8.—Correctly forecasting that the government's report on winter wheat condition today would show 91 per cent or better, traders sold freely and prices made a net drop of 1/2 to 3/4¢. Corn closed at a net rise of a shade to 1/2¢, oats were irregular, a shade lower to a shade higher, and provisions were unchanged to 1/2¢ up.

When the government's report came, at the close of the market, it had been fully discounted by a heavy selling movement that had lowered values materially. The official figures—91.3 compared with 81.6 last month—caused no surprise. The domestic crop situation was the dominant feature of the market, the trade overlooking the decrease of 4,358,000 bushels in the world's supply of wheat during April, the largest recorded at this season in more than 10 years.

Some strength was displayed by wheat at the opening because of higher cables, based on lighter world's shipments and because of export sales, said to amount to 550,000 bushels made at sea yesterday. Firmness, however, soon gave way under selling pressure. There were several slight rallies on covering by shorts, but in the final hour weakness again became pronounced. Primary receipts of wheat today were 67,000 bushels; last year, 345,000 bushels. Seaboard clearances of wheat and flour equalled 317,000 bushels.

Strength in southwestern corn markets was reflected in an upturn here. Lightness of country offerings is again becoming a feature. Today's advance was aided by influential buying. Continued reports of damage to oats from dry weather lifted prices some after an early decline.

Provisions averaged slightly higher, but amount of a decline at the yards, held within a very narrow range. Buying was scattered.

Quotations furnished by Otis & Co. Open High Low Close.

ST. LOUIS, May 8.—Lead dull, $12.25. Spelter dull, $5.25. The decrease was in excess of all estimates and compares with a reduction of about 18,000,000 pounds in the preceding month. Production for April was very little less than in March, but total deliveries increased almost 10,000,000 pounds, due largely to foreign demand, which was greater by over 5,000,000 pounds.

St. Louis capitalists have formed a corporation capitalized at $10,000,000 to operate illuminating plants in seven cities.

At The Theatre

MADAME NAZIMOVA

The coming engagement of that brilliant and distinguished Russian actress, Madame Nazimova, at the Grand Monday May 12 is in event of more than ordinary interest for Charles Frohman is to present her in one of the season's biggest successes "Bella Donna," in which she scored a veritable triumph during its New York engagement at the Empire theater. "Bella Donna" has been adapted to the stage by James Bernard Fagan from the novel of the same name by Robert H. Benson and as Mrs. Chaperon (Bella Donna), the passionate and poisoning heroine Madame Nazimova is said never to have been seen to better advantage. Mr. Frohman has made a particularly elaborate and handsome production for "Bella Donna." The first act is a handsome dark-red interior, richly furnished, supposed to be the consulting room of a London physician. The second third and fourth acts are all placed in Egypt, and the scenic artist has produced some really remarkable settings. The second act shows the interior of the villa on the Nile, the drawing room in black and gold, and so faithful as the reproduction that the furniture when not oriental is all of the French model, which has retained its popularity in Egypt ever since Napoleon's memorable visit. The third act shows the deck of the "Louisa" on the Nile itself. The river is pictured in the distance and the lighting effects are said to be most atmospheric. The last act is a garden scene and is typical of its Egyptian locality.

YSAYE WINS TRIUMPH AT RECITAL.

Violinist Returns to City After Eight Years, Shows Nobility and Mature Authority in Playing.

Emile Frances Bauer, in the New York Evening Mail. New York music lovers yesterday afternoon and last evening witnessed two of the most sensational features of the season will offer. That many appreciated these opportunities was shown by the fact that at Carnegie hall where Ysaye played, and at the Metropolitan where Titta Ruffo made his first appearance in this city the houses were crowded to capacity.

The return of Ysaye after an absence of eight years was most interesting, because, in the meantime a new phase has come upon the world. Extraordinary violin playing has been heard by players of extreme youth who have demonstrated at what an early age significant art may be achieved. When Ysaye appeared yesterday afternoon, he was received with delight and with much affection because in the audience was a great number of his pupils and a still greater number for whom Ysaye created a standard.

Before many measures had been played, the great Belgian demonstrated the tremendous value of maturity, and the power of the authority behind his interpretations and treatment of the instrument. Much of his playing had a real sublimity and all of it had nobility, dignity and the splendid poise of a great artist, with a still greater message.

The reverence with which he approaches his art is easily imparted to his hearers, and his program was completely in keeping with the highest ideals of a musician and one who feels his duty as a teacher.

His program contained sonatas by Veracini and Gemiliani, Italians of the same period, a Chaconne by Vitali with organ accompaniment, and Mozart's concerto in G major. The closing group included two compositions of his own and the well known Ron do Capriccioso by Saint-Saens. In the adagio of the concerto Ysaye arose to the most tender the most appealing moments that are within the power of a violinist. His own cadenzas in this concerto called for marvels of technical skill which he supplied in abundance. The audience kept him playing extras until far beyond a reasonable hour.

Stork and Cupid Cunning Plotters

Many a New Home will Have a Little Sunbeam to Brighten it.

There is usually a certain degree of dread in every woman's mind as to the probable pain, distress and danger of child birth. But, thanks to a most remarkable remedy known as Mother's Friend, all fear is banished and the period is one of unbounded, joyful anticipation.

Mother's Friend is used externally. It is a most penetrating application, makes the muscles of the stomach and abdomen pliant so they expand easily and naturally without pain, without distress and with none of that peculiar nausea nervousness and other symptoms that tend to weaken the prospective mother. Thus Cupid and the stork are held up to reprobation; they are rated as cunning plotters to besid the coming of a little sunbeam to gladden the hearts and brighten the homes of a host of happy families.

There are thousands of women who have used Mother's Friend, and thus know from experience that it is one of our greatest contributions to healthy, happy motherhood. It is sold by all druggists at $1.00 per bottle and is especially recommended as a preventive of caking breasts and all other such distresses. Write to Bradford Regulator Co., 181 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for their very valuable book to expectant mothers. Get a bottle of Mother's Friend today.

FACTS ABOUT "BEN BOLT"

From the Kansas City Journal. The familiar song, "Ben Bolt" was written in 1842, Dr. T. D. English, its author then residing in Philadelphia.

Within a year the poem had been reprinted in England. In 1845 a play was brought out in Pittsburgh called "The Battle of Buena Vista" in which the song of "Ben Bolt" was introduced.

Nelson Kneass adapted a German melody to the lines and they were sung in the play. The drama died, but the song survived.

A music publisher in Cincinnati obtained the copyright and it was the business success of his career. In theaters concert rooms minstrel shows and private parlors nothing was heard but "Ben Bolt." It was ground on street organs and whistled on the streets, and "Sweet Alice" became the pet of the public. The song went abroad and obtained great popularity in England. The streets of London were flooded with parodies, answers and imitations printed on broadsides and sung and sold by curbstome minstrels.

In the course of time many changes have been made in the lines of the song and the version now generally sung differs very materially from the song as it was first written by Dr. English.

The Gold Dust Twins' Philosophy

ONE day, when Mr. Jones returned with what his weekly toil had earned, he found his little wife in tears and mood not suited to her years. It seemed the cook had bade "adieu," likewise the washerwoman, too.

Gold Dust as Strike Breaker
At first within the House of Jones there followed sad despondent moans. No hopeful word could reconcile, no homied kiss inspire a smile. "I never knew before," said she, "how horrid household cares could be."

"Upon my word I'm up at six and working still as midnight ticks. I scrub and run and wash and shine to keep the little things in line, and yet around me here and there I see undone another share. I almost feel as if I'd like to join the other ones on Strike. Some morning try it—get a mop; go through from cellar to the top, and I will venture you must see, the greater burdens fall on me."

Now Mr. Jones was passing wise and later, sprang a glad surprise. Through friends who praised the "GOLD DUST WAY," he brought a package home one day.

From tears to sunshine, Wifey now has found the good of "Knowing How" and striking servants fail to stir, the placid calm content of her.
